Yakima Bait® Company...Steeped In Tradition, Innovation And Fishing Success.

Rooster Tail®, FlatFish®, Lil' Corky®, Spin-N-Glo®, Triple Teaser®, Worden®, Poe's®, and Hildebrandt® represent iconic lure and brand name products that have withstood-the-test-of-time in regard to their popularity, fish catching ability, and sales volume. More recent successes like Mag Lip®, Big Al's Fish Flash®, Hawg Nose FlatFish®, Maxi Jig™, Fast Limit™ Kokanee Dodger, Drum Roller™, and Super Sally™ have propelled Yakima Bait into a new era of prominence among sport anglers and the wholesale and retail base that serves them.

The attention to detail during the initial lure design phase cannot be overstated, as each and every product must exhibit the correct action, sonic vibration, color scheme, hook, and rigging configuration that will entice sometimes finicky fish into striking. None of these qualities are taken for granted at Yakima Bait, from the use of quality material and components, assembly, plating, painting, rigging, and packaging – each and every manufacturing step is vigorously adhered to by our qualified lure crafters.

Paying attention to the fundamentals of lure design and quality of manufacture is what made R.B.Worden's Floating Spinner Company (later re-named Yakima Bait) succeed during its beginnings in the late 1920's and early 1930's, when his son Howard Worden joined the company, and what continues to guide the management team today.

FINISHES/COLORS

BL - Black 	CHWT - Chrome White 	The Joe Thomas signature Rooster Tail is a premium spinner and top producer for bass and schooling stripers. Try a fast retrieve during the post or pre-spawn time periods, when the water temperature is 55 to 65 degrees. Retrieve fast enough so your Rooster Tail will run within a few feet of the surface – this will produce explosive strikes from bass, particularly smallmouth!

KNOW HOW

ROOSTER TAIL®

The World's Most Versatile Multi-Species Lure

Fish are attracted to spinners due to their size, color, flash, and vibration. Spinners like the Rooster Tail have weight built in to their design, which means they can be cast, trolled or jigged. With four Rooster Tail styles available in weights ranging from 1/24oz. to 1oz. and over 100 finishes it's no wonder you can catch any fish that swims while using a Rooster Tail.

Cast and Retrieve - Lakes

The most popular way to fish a spinner is to employ the cast-and-retrieve method. It's so easy, just tie a spinner on the end of your line, cast into a nearby body of water and reel/retrieve your spinner back to you.

To determine the depth your spinner is running, try the "count-down" method. Most weighted spinners sink at a rate of one foot per second. Here's how: cast out, and allow your Rooster Tail to fall freely to the bottom (counting one-one thousand, two-one thousand etc.) until your lure hits bottom, signified by your line going slack. Now that you know the water depth based on counting you can begin your next retrieve at varying depths above bottom.

Cast and Retrieve - Rivers

The most common method used in rivers is to cast your spinner out, across and slightly upstream; allow it to sink near bottom while reeling up any slack line, then pulling back on your rod tip slightly, causing the blade to start its spin before beginning a slow retrieve. The current will sweep your spinner downstream as you reel it back, so your location on shore is important; meaning, you should position yourself at or just above the most productive areas. Once your spinner swings in near shore, it's time to reel in and cast again.

Forward - Trolling

Trailing a spinner 30-to-100 feet behind a moving boat is a method used on lakes and slow-moving rivers and is the most productive during times when fish are scattered over a wide area. The most productive trolling speeds are 1/2 -to-3 MPH. When forward trolling, the most effective strategy is to run each person's spinner at different distances behind your boat. Staggering the distance out is solid trolling strategy as doing so will increase the number of times fish will encounter your offering.

Jigging

Jigging produces best when fish are concentrated into tight schools due to underwater structure, temperature, cover or current. This is when a fish finder might reveal their location and the depth fish are running. Easy, position your boat above the fish and free spool your spinner to the fish holding depth. Jigging involves the lifting and lowering of your rod tip such that your lure will move, dart and flutter as it falls downward. Most anglers give their rod tip a little flip after each 6-to-18 inch upward movement and follow their line/lure downward with their rod tip. Since most strikes occur as your lure is falling (on the drop), you'll need to pay close attention and quickly set the hook if your lure stops its fall or you feel something unusual happening on the end of your line.

TROUT & PANFISH

FlatFish® - Trout & Panfish sizes F-2 through F-7

FlatFish® is a shallow diving plug that produces high action and vibration that attracts fish. While the F-2 through F-7 sizes were designed to catch any small-to-medium size game fish, they are favored by avid trout and panfish anglers. FlatFish produce a wide, strike-producing wiggle when trolled or reeled at slow speed. For best result, tie your line directly to the round-eyed connector snap or figure-eight eyelet provided with the lure. A barrel swivel can relieve line twist associated with spinning reel use and should be placed a few feet ahead of your plug.

Lakes

Trout: When and where lake water temperatures are cool or during low light periods (early or late in the day), FlatFish can be trolled on a flat line (no weight added) near the surface. Troll speeds of less than one mile per hour is what works; many anglers favor rowing or an electric trolling motor for propulsion and move along at a quarter to half MPH, and may vary their speed or troll in a zigzag pattern to entice strikes from following fish. As lake temperatures rise or during sunny conditions, which can drive trout deeper into the water column, add weight (split shot or trolling sinker) 24-to-48 inches ahead of lure. Leaded line, with 6-foot monofilament or fluorocarbon leader, can also be used to take FlatFish down. FlatFish also work when rigged in combination with a lake troll, like a Yakima Bait® UV Rooster troll; the troll's spinning blades attract fish that are drawn close to your FlatFish trailing 24-to-48 inches behind. A short leader length often produces best when the water is colored and long leaders when it's clear.

Panfish: FlatFish work for panfish too. Try trolling or casting with or without weight depending where fish are holding. To add casting weight, try adding a split shot two-to-three feet up your line, perhaps at your swivel. Unlike trout, warm water specie become active when waters warm in the spring and may be found near structure (obstacles connected to the bottom) or beneath or near docks, surface vegetation, or overhanging trees or brush.

Rivers

FlatFish can be cast cross current and allowed to swing through fish-holding water. To add casting weight, crimp a split shot onto your line a few feet ahead of your FlatFish. The smallest size FlatFish, an F-2 or F-3, can be cast with a fly rod and crawl-retrieved through fish holding water.

FlatFish Tuning

Guides and pro-anglers check their plugs to make sure they're performing properly and you should too. Check the plug action by pulling it through the water; FlatFish produces a wide wiggle and should not broach to one side unless pulled too fast. If your lure dives to one side you can correct its action by turning or bending the pull-point screw-eye the opposite way it's running. By centering the pull-point eyelet the plug lip will draw equal amounts of water on each side and dive straight.

Add Scent to Your FlatFish

You can make FlatFish even more effective by adding scent to your lure or tipping one prong of treble hook with maggot, or equal sized sections of leech or worm. Scent-filled, prepared-baits work for tipping too.

TROUT, STEELHEAD & WALLEYE

FlatFish® - Trout, Steelhead & Walleye sizes F-7 through T-4

The high-action produced by FlatFish® at slow troll or retrieve speeds can produce violent strikes from game fish. While the F-7 through T-4 sizes were designed to catch a wide variety of fish (the reason Yakima Bait offers over 40 finishes), they are favored most by avid trout, steelhead and walleye anglers. For best results, tie your line directly to the round-eyed connector snap or figure-eight eyelet provided with the lure. A barrel swivel can relieve line twist associated with spinning reel use and should be placed from 24-to-36 inches ahead of lure.

Lakes

When and where lake water temperatures are cool (spring and fall) or during low light periods (early or late in the day), FlatFish can be trolled on a flat line (no weight added) near the surface. Troll speeds of 1/2 to 1-1/2 mile per hour is what works for this plug set. Many anglers find success by varying their troll speed to entice strikes from following fish. As lake temperatures rise or during sunny conditions, which can drive fish deeper into the water column, add weight (split shot, trolling sinker or bottom walker) 36-to-60 inches ahead of lure. Leaded line, with 6-to-8 foot monofilament or fluorocarbon leader, can also be used to take FlatFish down when trolling. When used in conjunction with a downrigger, try running your FlatFish 10-to-20 feet behind downrigger release.

Rivers

FlatFish can be cast cross current and allowed to swing through fish-holding water. To add casting weight, crimp a split shot 24-to-36 inches ahead of your FlatFish. From a boat, FlatFish can be trolled or still fished: by anchoring and using river current to work lure. FlatFish are the go-to plug when anchor fishing in slow moving current due to their ability to produce high action at the slowest of water speeds. For this application, rig your FlatFish on a 50-to-60 inch leader with a 24-to-30 inch dropper line to your weight.

FLATFISH® HOOKING OPTIONS

For sizes X4, X-5, U-20, T-4 rigged with 3 Trebles specify "3G" after catalog number.

FlatFish Tuning

It's always wise to check the action of your plug to make sure it's performing properly. Check the plug action by pulling it through the water; FlatFish produces a wide wiggle and should not broach to one side unless pulled too fast. If your lure dives to one side you can correct its action by turning or bending the pull-point screw-eye the opposite way the plug is running. By centering the pull-point eyelet the plug lip will draw equal amounts of water on each side of its lip and dive straight.

Add Scent to Your FlatFish

You can make FlatFish even more effective by adding scent to your lure or tipping one prong of trailing treble hook with maggot, or a small section of leech or worm. Scent-filled, prepared-baits work for tipping too.

KNOW HOW

MAG LIP® 2.0 & 2.5

Similar to the larger sizes of this now iconic lure, the Mag Lip 2.0 and 2.5 dive extra-deep while yielding an erratic, darting “skip-beat” action that produces savage strikes from fish like trout, Kokanee, crappie, and walleye. And while this lure was designed for trolling, it can be cast and retrieved if you employ thin diameter line in combination with a spinning reel; a method that is popular in rivers where swinging a plug through the holding water can produce savage strikes from fish waiting to ambush their prey.

Mag Lip Hook Options

Size 2.0: Factory rigged with a size #10 treble hook, the 2.0 Mag Lip will swim correctly when treble hook is replaced with a size 6 or 8 siwash style single hook and performs best when single hook is attached via double split rings.

Size 2.5: Equipped with a size #6 treble hook from the factory, the 2.5 will perform when treble hook is replacement with single point hook. We recommend a size 4 or 6 single siwash style be used with 2.5 size via double split rings.

Mag Lip Tuning

Mag Lip is straight running from factory when using the included round-eyed connector snap! This plug can be fine tuned by bending (a slight amount) the pull-point eyelet the opposite way the plug is running. You should realize the erratic skip-beat Mag Lip action should not be confused with it being out of tune. Rather than pulling Mag Lip beside your boat, to check its action: place Mag Lip in the current behind your boat with your rod tip pointed downstream and observe its wiggle and how it tracks before attempt to adjust the eyelet.

KNOW HOW

MAG LIP® 3.0 & 3.5

High action trolling plug designed to dive deep and catch a variety of game fish like trophy crappie, trout, walleye, steelhead and salmon describes this plug set best. Mag Lip® 3.0 and 3.5 can be forward trolled in lakes or fished in rivers via trolling, still-fishing or back-trolling. Mag Lip is distinctive due to its ability to dive extra-deep while yielding an erratic, darting “skip-beat” action that produces savage strikes from fish. The “skip-beat” action produced by Mag Lip teases fish into striking similar to how a house cat pounces when coaxed with a ball & string. Many guides and anglers report a higher hook-to-land ratio when using Mag Lip as compared to other plug designs and credit the savage strikes and better hook-to-land ratio to the unique action produced by this lure.

Diving Depth

Both sizes dive deep, up to 10 feet with the size 3.0, and 14 feet with the 3.5 size. The exact diving depth will vary greatly depending on the amount of let-out (distance behind your boat), line diameter, and trolling or current speed; for example, employing larger diameter line or shorter let-out distance produces a shallower dive.

Mag Lip 3.0 Hook Options

Factory rigged with treble hooks (Size #6 treble on belly and #5 on tail). Mag Lip swims correctly when rigged with double siwash style single hooks (size 2 on belly and 1 on tail). Recommend attaching size 10 swivel to split ring and crimping open-eyed siwash hook to swivel. Some anglers rig one size 1 siwash style single hook on the tail hook hanger (via double split-ring or swivel/split-ring combo) with no hook on the belly of Mag Lip – Mag Lip 3.0 will swim to 3-1/2 MPH and yield a wider wiggle with one siwash rigged on lure tail.

Mag Lip 3.5 Hook Options

Rigged with treble hooks (Size #4 treble on belly and #3 on tail) but works with singles too! Mag Lip swims correctly when rigged with double (size #1 or size #2) siwash style single hooks. Recommend attaching size 7 swivel to split ring and crimping open-eyed siwash single hook to swivel. Some anglers are finding success by running one size 2/0 siwash style single hook on the tail hook hanger with no hook on the belly of Mag Lip.

The One Hook Option

For catch & release fishing, where removing the belly hook might make releasing fish easy, Mag Lip 3.0 and 3.5 will perform with the belly hook removed.

Mag Lip Tuning

Mag Lip is straight running from factory when using the included round-eyed connector snap! This plug can be fine tuned by bending (a slight amount) the pull-point eyelet the opposite way the plug is running. You should realize the erratic skip-beat Mag Lip action should not be confused with it being out of tune. Rather than pulling Mag Lip beside your boat, to check its action: place Mag Lip in the current behind your boat with your rod tip pointed downstream and observe its wiggle and how it tracks before attempt to adjust the eyelet.

KNOW HOW

MAG LIP® 4.0, 4.5 & 5.0

The 4.0, 4.5 and 5.0 Mag Lip® is a unique plug set designed to catch large fish like Lake Trout and Salmon, with the 4.0 size suitable for trophy-size walleye and steelhead too. Mag Lip can be forward trolled in lakes or fished in rivers via trolling, still-fishing or back-trolling. Mag Lip is distinctive due to its ability to dive extra-deep while yielding an erratic, darting “skip-beat” action that produces savage strikes from fish. The unique “skip-beat” action produced by Mag Lip teases fish into striking similar to how a house cat pounces when coaxed with a ball & string. Many guides and anglers report a higher hook-to-land ratio when using Mag Lip as compared to other plug types and credit the savage strikes and better hook-to-land ratio to the unique action produced by this lure.

Diving Depth

Mag Lip dives extra deep and using one may eliminate the need for adding additional weight ahead of lure. Size 4.0 dives up to 18-feet, 20-feet for 4.5 size, and 25-feet for 5.0. The exact diving depth achieved will vary greatly depending on the amount of let-out, line diameter, and troll or current speed.

Bait Wrap

Mag Lip is designed to perform with or without other bait strapped to its belly. Mag Lip bait-wrap grooves hold wrapping thread and fillet in place. Fillet sizes for 4.5 Mag Lip should measure 1-3/4 inches long and 5/8 inches wide. Your fillet should be slightly smaller for the 4.0 size and larger for the 5.0. For best results center your fillet on the belly eyelet (skin side down) and hold in place by wrapping many times with light test mono or elastic thread and finishing with 3-to-4 half hitches.

Mag Lip 4.0 Hook Options

Mag Lip 4.0 is rigged from the factory with treble hooks (Size #2 round-bend trebles) but works with singles too! Mag Lip 4.0 swims correctly when rigged with size 1/0-2/0 (2/0 on tail) siwash style single hook. For two singles, it's recommend that you rig the belly single hook (point down) off two (2) split-rings, and the trailing single (point up) off double split-rings. Mag Lip 4.0 will perform with one 2/0 or 3/0 size single hook attached to the tail of the lure, however, to maintain proper balance and speed tolerance, rig two (2) split rings on belly hanger.

Mag Lip 4.5 Hook Options

Mag Lip 4.5 is rigged from the factory with treble hooks (Size #1 round-bend trebles) but works with singles too! Mag Lip 4.5 swims correctly when rigged with size 2/0-3/0 (3/0 on tail) siwash style single hook. For two singles, it's recommend that you rig the belly single hook (point down) off two (2) split-rings, and the trailing single (point up) off double split-rings. Mag Lip 4.5 will perform with one 3/0 single hook attached to the tail of the lure, however, to maintain proper balance and speed tolerance, rig two (2) split rings on belly hanger.

Mag Lip 5.0 Hook Options

The Mag Lip 5.0 pulls to 4 MPH when rigged with two (2) size 2/0 treble hooks – the factory rigging specification. When rigged with two size 1/0 trebles Mag Lip will yield a more skip-beat action, which may produce more strikes in slow moving current.

Removing Belly Hook

The 5.0 will swim to 3-1/2 MPH when rigged with one (1) size 2/0 treble hook or to 2MPH when rigged with one size 1/0 treble hook attached to the tail end of the plug.

Single Hook

The 5.0 will swim up to 4 MPH when rigged with one (1) size 4/0 single siwash hook providing the belly split ring is left in place. Leaving the belly split ring in place is important when fishing fast moving rivers like the Kenai in Alaska or British Columbia's Skeena River.

Mag Lip Tuning

Mag Lip is straight running from factory when using the included round-eyed connector snap! This plug can be fine tuned by bending (a slight amount) the pull-point eyelet the opposite way the plug is running. You should realize the erratic skip-beat Mag Lip action should not be confused with it being out of tune. Rather than pulling Mag Lip beside your boat, to check its action: place Mag Lip in the current behind your boat with your rod tip pointed downstream and observe its wiggle and how it tracks before attempt to adjust the eyelet.

KNOW HOW

FAT WIGGLER™

The Fat Wiggler™ is a deep diving plug that can be forward-trolled, back-trolled or cast, and features a strike producing, “skip-beat”™ action due to its computer engineered cupped-lip design. This unique “skip-beat” action entices fish into biting similar to teasing a cat with a ball & string. Many guides and anglers report a higher hook-to-land ratio due to this unique action. In addition, due to Fat Wiggler’s balancing-weight being centered at the hinge/balance point of the plug body, this lure features frantic action while weighing more than similar plug styles, which makes for longer casts. The large lip configuration means you can get deep while trolling, back-trolling or casting.

Forward Trolling

Fat Wiggler can be trolled on a flat line, in combination with a planer board, diver, downrigger or leaded/wire line. On a flat line (trolling without additional weight) with 15-pound test monofilament and 75’ of let out, the 1/4 size will dive 8-to-14 feet, the half size 10-to-15 feet, and size one 10-to-15 feet. The exact diving depth achieved will vary depending on the amount of let out (distance behind your boat), line diameter and trolling speed.

River Back-Trolling

Begin by positioning your boat upstream from the area you wish to fish by holding your craft (drift, motor or jet boat) steady in the current by rowing or with the aid of a trolling motor. Then, free spool your diving plug (in this case a Fat Wiggler) out, downstream behind your boat 30-to-70 feet. The exact let out distance depends on water depth and length of the area you wish to fish. For example, your Fat Wiggler will diver deeper with a longer let out and shallower when fished closer to the boat. When you stop letting out line, the current will cause your plug to dive near bottom. Now, while holding back in the current, allow your craft to back downstream such that your plug(s) will continue to dive and wiggle near bottom as you cover the water. This method works on all fish that frequent rivers.

Casting & Retrieve

Fat Wiggler is a fantastic casting lure due to the fact that its body design allows it to perform with more internal “casting” weight than other similar size plugs and, at the same time, yield its lively action. The large diving lip enables you to quickly get into the strike zone when casting; for example, the half size will dive 12-to-13 feet on the cast. In addition, the Fat Wiggler will float up and backwards if given slack line, which will enable you to maneuver it around bottom structure.

Fat Wiggler Tuning

Fat Wiggler is straight running from factory when using the included round-eyed connector snap! Little or no tuning is required due to this plug having the proper lip angle combined with the precise placement of the pull-point hanger during the assembly process. This plug can be fine tuned by bending (a slight amount) the pull-point eyelet the opposite way the plug is running. You should realize the erratic action should not be confused with it being out of tune. Rather than pulling the Fat Wiggler beside your boat, to check its action: place Fat Wiggler in the current behind your boat with your rod tip pointed downstream and observe its wiggle and how it tracks before attempting to adjust the pull-point eyelet.

LIL' CORKY

YAKIMA BAIT.

KNOW HOW

LIL' CORKY®

The Lil' Corky® and Lil' Corky Cluster™ are buoyant egg imitations that can be fished by themselves, in conjunction with bait, as buoyant beads for trolling harnesses and spinners, or as strike indicators when fly fishing.

Floating Bait

Use Lil' Corky® to float live, prepared dough bait and other scent-filled bait imitations above bottom where cruising fish can quickly see/find it. It's easy; just thread Lil' Corky fish egg imitation onto leader above your hook.

When still-fishing with bait, rig in combination with a free-sliding oval egg sinker and 18-to-30 inch leader, cast out, wait for a bite, and set the hook when your rod tip dips toward the water; and leave some slack in your line, so fish can swim off without feeling line resistance and swallow your Lil' Corky n' bait combination. Cover more water by fishing this same outfit (rigged with a fixed weight) from a drifting boat or cast and hop/slow retrieve along the bottom. For example, bass anglers fishing a Carolina Rig, use Lil' Corky to float their worm above bottom. The above methods work on nearly every fish type that swims: trout, panfish, walleye, bass, catfish, redfish, sea trout, strippers, surf perch, flounder, etc.

Fishing Rivers - Drift Fishing

As egg imitations, Lil' Corky and Lil' Corky Cluster are often drift fished in rivers alone or in combination with bait (egg cluster or shrimp) an 18-to-24 inch leader and pencil or slinky style sinker. It's easy: cast out, across and upstream with enough weight so your sinker will bounce bottom as your outfit drifts along in the river current. Your drift is complete when your rig swings near shore, which is when you'll need to reel in and cast again. Drift Fishing is a series of casts, drifts, and retrieves. With this method, the key to success is learning to differentiate between snag and fish; pay close attention as your outfit drifts along, follow your line with your rod tip as it proceeds downstream, and don't be bashful about setting the hook should your line stop drifting.

Side Drifting

Side drifting is a similar method employed from a boat where the craft is used to extend your drift the full length of a hole by staying just ahead of or even with your drifting line(s). Because the boat is constantly moving, little line belly occurs – meaning less weight is needed to keep your outfit near bottom. A Lil' Corky rigged in combination with an egg cluster and 24-to-40 inch leader is what works. Try rigging a size #12 Corky between 2 #4 single hooks with an egg cluster inserted in the snelled egg loop of your top hook.

"Two-Timing" Rig

Fishing a jig (Maxi Jig™) under a float is effective in rivers when drifted in current. You might double your catch by adding a 24-inch leader from your jig to a Lil' Corky suspended below pegged (with a toothpick) 2-to-3 inches above a hook big enough to take the buoyancy out of your Lil' Corky so it will skip along the bottom. What works is a size 12 Lil' Corky rigged in combination with a size #1 hook. In more turbid water or at times when fish might respond to a larger egg imitation, try a size 10 Lil' Corky rigged in combination with a size 1/0 hook.

Rigging Tips

While Lil' Corky is available rigged for use with dough bait and as a walleye harness component, the majority of anglers like to rig their own, which is why you will find this product sold as individual bodies. It's easy: just snell hook to leader, and slide your Lil' Corky or Lil' Corky Cluster down the leader to your hook. Lil' Corky can be held at or near your hook after threading onto your leader by wedging a toothpick into the center hole and breaking it off.

KNOW HOW LIL' CORKY® BAIT FLOATER

"Still-Fishing" (also known as dead-sticking or plunking) dough bait for trout is a popular and productive method for catching trout from lakes, reservoirs and rivers. It's so Easy: Cast out, allow your outfit to sink to the bottom, wait for a bite, and set-the-hook when your rod tip dips toward the water. It's important to leave some slack in your line, so trout can swim off with your bait and swallow it without feeling line resistance before you yank back on your rod tip to set the hook.

Important

When using PowerBait® you can greatly increase your success by using the right amount of dough bait in combination with a Lil' Corky® single-egg-imitation such that your bait will float above bottom so cruising trout can quickly see/find it. This is fundamental to success and often results in quick limits! The buoyancy of your Lil' Corky single-egg-imitation will take the guess work out of how much dough bait is the right amount to float your bait.

Selecting the Right Weight

Leader length is important because, after all, you want your bait floating at the depth the fish are cruising, which might be close to the bottom during times when the water is clear and sun bright, higher in the water column during the spring - when water temperatures begin to warm - early and/or late in the day, or on overcast days. And while the average leader length should be 18-to-24 inches, a leader long enough to extend above bottom-growing vegetation might be the ticket to success when trout are swimming just above the weed tops.

Rigging is Easy

Simply thread your main line (extending from your rod tip) through the hole in your oval egg sinker, add a small plastic bead, and tie your line end to a size ten (10) barrel swivel. Then attach your leader (18-to-24 inches), complete with Lil' Corky threaded on leader above hook, to the free end of your swivel end, then mold a ball of PowerBait around your hook. Note: A size 12 treble hook should be used in combination with a size 12 Lil' Corky, and size 14 treble with size 14 Lil' Corky bait floater.

When rigging a Lil' Corky/PowerBait combination, use a ball of PowerBait® slightly larger than your Lil' Corky. We can tell you, based on extensive testing and observation of underwater video footage, that you will catch far more fish if your Lil' Corky and PowerBait combination floats side-by-side in the water column.

SPIN-N-GLO

YAKIMA BAIT

KNOW HOW

SPIN-N-GLO®

A buoyant, noise producing spinner that can be rigged alone or in combination with bait and catch nearly any fish species that swims, best describes this unique lure.

As a Bait Floater

When still-fishing/plunking, Spin-N-Glo's buoyant body can be used to float live bait or prepared bait above bottom where cruising fish can quickly see and find it as compared to a bait lying on the bottom. In addition, the spinning action produced by river current, tidal or wave movement helps attract fish to this lure or lure/bait combination. When using in combination with a sinker, leader lengths can vary from 18-to-36 inches. Try a short leader when fish are hugging the bottom, like during the middle of the day when the sun is bright. A longer leader may produce best when fish are cruising higher in the water column, like during low-light, overcast conditions, or when fish are migrating.

Trolling

Spin-N-Glo can be trolled by itself or in combination with lake troll, dodger or flasher, which may impart additional action to this already lively lure; for example, many anglers trolling for Trout, Kokanee, Lake Trout, Walleye, Steelhead, Salmon, Stripers, and Halibut will rig Spin-N-Glo 18-to-48 inches (12 inches for Kokanee) behind a trolling sinker/ bottom walker or attractor and may add bait to the trailing hook. Anglers trailing a worm behind their Spin-N-Glo will often rig two (2) hooks in tandem, which helps nab short striking fish.

Drift Fishing

River anglers often employ drift fishing as a way to improve their odds of encountering fish as compared to still fishing. To rig: attached your main line to a swivel, your weight may be a pencil or slinky style, a leader of 18-to-30 inches with your Spin-N-Glo threaded on the leader above a small plastic bead and hook. You can use Spin-N-Glo by itself or in combination with bait. It's easy, just cast out, across and upstream and allow your outfit to drift along in the current using just enough weight so your outfit will skip bottom every few feet. If your outfit stops drifting, or you feel a bite, set the hook. Once your drift is complete, reel in and cast again. Drift fishing is a series of casts, drifts and retrieves.

Back-Trolling

When back-trolling in rivers, Spin-N-Glo is often used to add action to a bait trailing 24-to-50 inches behind a buoyant river diver (or plug used as a divers). Spin-N-Glo helps float your bait just above bottom where it's less likely to hang up.

Rigging Tips

While Spin-N-Glo is available rigged on a spinner wire with beads and a hook, the majority of anglers like to rig their own, which is why you will often find this product sold as individual bodies. It's easy: just snell hook to leader, add one or two plastic beads (as bearings), and slide your Spin-N-Glo down the leader to your hook.

KNOW HOW

BIG AL'S FISH FLASH®

Fish Flash® is a revolutionary, no-drag tolling flasher design that attracts fish like a magnet when trolled in combination with lure or bait by producing horizontal, strobe-like flashes of light as it spins around its axis. Fish Flash attracts fish without the drag associated with a similar size dodger or rotating flasher style. In addition, the triangular shape and wings that extend outward allow Fish Flash to work when attached directly to downrigger, diving planer or bottom walker.

Attracts Fish to Trailing Lures and Bait

Fish Flash is effective when used in combination with action producing lures: spoon, spinner, plug or action fly or squid all work when trolled in combination with Fish Flash. For added attraction, try tipping your lures with scent-filled worm or cut bait. Bait, consisting of whole or plug-cut herring, anchovy, shad, or alewife rigged to spin (sometimes in combination with spinner blade) is effective, as are worm, leech and minnow.

Downrigger Trolling

When fished in combination with a downrigger, Fish Flash ease of water entry and stability mean it will not wander and tangle with other lines, which make using one especially effective when stacking lines. When used in conjunction with a downrigger, try running your Fish Flash 10-to-20 feet behind downrigger release. Fish Flash can be attached directly to your downrigger ball and will attract fish to nearby lures.

Ideal for Copper/Wire or Leaded Line

The no-drag design makes Fish Flash ideal for use in combination with copper, wire or leaded line trolling, where line retrieval can be especially tiresome with other flasher styles.

Eliminate Line Twist

Although all Fish Flash come equipped with quality double-ended, stainless ball-bearing swivels on both flasher ends, you can eliminate all possible leader twist when used in conjunction with a spinner or spinning bait by placing a swivel half way down your leader.

Leader Lengths

Leader Lengths vary depending on conditions and specie. For salmon and Lake Trout in clear water try a 48-to-72 inch leader. In more turbid water shorter leader lengths, ranging from 30-to-40 inches may produce best. Some anglers employ two or more Fish Flash (connected in tandem) when fish are scattered widely or when fishing off-colored water.

Super sharp corrosion-proof hook

Unique High Vibration Sound Producing Thumper Blade

Powder coated finish holds up to saltwater

UNIQUE BLADE AND DESIGN IS UNEQUALED

Yakima Bait's Toman Thumper Flex™ spinner is a huge leap forward in salmon spinner design. The Thumper Flex features a unique chain-swivel body that virtually eliminates the bending of the spinner wire from hard-charging salmon, while the squid covering holds the spinner straight and running true.

The "Flex" rigging combined with Bob's unique "Thumper" blade design is a combination that's proved itself again and again. Like all Toman spinners, the Thumper Flex features a low-alloy brass blade and Yakima Bait's exclusive powder-coated finish with the addition of a Two-Part UV Urethane Overcoat that resists corrosion – even when exposed to saltwater. The Thumper blade produces and increased amount of sonic vibration while its flat-sided surfaces produce more horizontal reflection than curved blade styles.

Like all Toman spinners, the Thumper Flex features a pre-straightened stainless-steel wire, a high quality clevis riding on a bearing washer and brass bead, and pre-sharpened treble hook.

Long lasting durability combined with a high-vibration blade of Bob's very own design is what makes this spinner so popular and productive. To reduce/eliminate line twist associated with fishing a spinner, try rigging a swivel half way down your leader.

SPECIAL FINISH PAINT SHOP TERMS

The following terms apply to all special finish orders offered by Yakima Bait®.

- 1) On first time orders, up to 90-day lead time may be required from sample approval and receipt of order date. Allow 30 to 60 days for delivery on re-orders.
- 2) Standard freight and billing terms apply.
- 3) All special finishes become the property of Yakima Bait Company.
- 4) Order cancellations not allowed on PO's for custom finishes.
- 5) Return authorizations (RA's) for custom color products will be denied.
- 6) Yakima Bait reserves the right to up-charge for or deny custom orders requiring an excessive number of paint steps or complexity.

HOW TO ORDER

Explain to us (sales manager or factory representative) what you have in mind and send us a live sample, drawing or photograph. We will then build a sample and send or email a photograph to you for approval. Once approved and you've agreed to the terms, we will apply a finish code and UPC to your finish and ask that you follow up with a PO.
